The National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) offers a number of research grants and scholarships to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander researchers through its People Support Schemes:

- Translating Research Into Practice (TRIP) Fellowships
- Postgraduate Scholarships
- Early Career Fellowships
- Career Development Fellowships
- Practitioner Fellowships
- Research Fellowships

A career in medical health research will not only help improve the health and well-being of our mob, but improve the health and well-being of all Australians.

For more information about NHMRC’s people support schemes and how to qualify and apply visit www.nhmrc.gov.au/your-health/indigenous-health or contact us on 1300 064 672